

Kate Murphy

Kate Murphy has worked at Carville Primary School, in North Tyneside for the last 6 years. She is a NCETM PD accredited lead and is currently science and maths lead at Carville. Kate is passionate about inspiring children to engage with and discuss STEM through practical learning opportunities which require them to develop their working scientifically skills. Over the past few years, Kate has worked with a range of providers around the North East to provide opportunities for children to work with STEM professionals.

Over the last year, she has been working with newly qualified teachers to support and develop their pedagogy and she is looking forward to continue this work throughout the trust.
